House Gives Initial Bi-Partisan Approval to Judicial Reform

JEFFERSON CITY – Better Courts for Missouri expressed optimism today as judicial selection reform legislation reached an important milestone.

Today, House Joint Resolution 10 received initial, bi-partisan approval from the Missouri House of Representatives, as it was voted perfected and printed.

James Harris, Executive Director of Better Courts for Missouri, echoed the optimism of the organization, saying, “We applaud house leadership for encouraging the passage of this important, commonsense legislation. We thank all the true patriots who supported this bill and demonstrated their willingness to stand up to powerful special interest groups and the elite legal establishment to do what is right. The days of Judge Laura Denvir Stith being the lapdog of ambulance chasers are coming to an end. Missourians deserve better, and with today’s house action we are one step closer to a fair and impartial judiciary.”
